

GHANA

Women, Business and the Law (WBL), in collaboration with the Global Financing Facility (GFF), has collected data on laws affecting women's and girls' access to sexual and reproductive health (SRH), as well as frameworks supporting their implementation. Data were collected through desk research and a questionnaire administered to country experts. The analysis is organized around five indicators. For each indicator, the legal framework is assessed based on domestic laws and regulations. The supportive framework is assessed based on instruments—such as national policies, strategies, and guidelines—that are currently in effect and support the implementation of these laws.

INDICATOR		WHAT DOES IT MEASURE?
		Legal Frameworks	Supportive Frameworks
	SRH rights	Right to SRH; guaranteed access to free SRH services without discrimination	Existence and contents of an operational SRH policy or strategy
	Violence against women and girls (VAWG)	Prohibition of female genital mutilations (FGM)	Adoption of measures to eradicate FGM
	Family planning	Absence of legal restrictions on SRH services, such as the need for consent from a husband, male guardian, parent or third party	Family planning guidelines or protocols
	Comprehensive sexuality education (CSE)	Legal mandates for CSE in schools	Guidelines for delivery of CSE in schools
	Right to education	Girls' legal right to attend school during pregnancy and after childbirth	Policies to keep girls in school and allow pregnant and parenting students to attend school

LEGAL AND SUPPORTIVE FRAMEWORKS

Ghana has a comprehensive and defined framework for:

SRH RIGHTS

Ghana Reproductive, Maternal, Newborn, Child and Adolescent Health and Nutrition Strategic Plan 2020-2025 lays out strategic programs and interventions focusing on family planning and reducing maternal, new-born and child mortality. The strategic plan provides SRH services to reduce the unmet need and increase the demand for modern contraceptives.

The Ghana Family Planning Costed Implementation Plan 2024-2030 includes awareness campaigns to create demand for family planning services.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND GIRLS

FGM is a criminal offense in Ghana, and the individual performing the FGM procedure is criminally responsible, with penalties including imprisonment of up to three years.

FAMILY PLANNING

No provisions in the law require women to obtain consent from their husband or male guardian or adolescents to obtain parental or a legal guardian's consent to access SRH services. Similarly, the law does not require any third-party consent that may restrict access to SRH.

The National Reproductive Health Service Policy and Standards lays out reproductive health service standards for healthcare providers.

RIGHT TO EDUCATION

The Girls' Education Unit of the Ministry of Education has been set up with the mission to bring parity of access to education and educational opportunities for girls.

POLICY OPPORTUNITIES

The data reveal gaps in Ghana's legal and supportive frameworks across the five indicators assessed. Strengthening these frameworks can help accelerate the country's progress toward gender equality and to improve health outcomes for women, children, and adolescents.

Ghana may wish to consider translating the following gaps into policy opportunities:

SRH RIGHTS

The law does not guarantee the right to SRH or access to SRH services. Additionally, it does not prohibit discrimination in accessing SRH services based on sex or gender, age, or marital status.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND GIRLS

While FGM is a criminal offense, the law does not specifically criminalize parents or guardians for allowing their children to undergo FGM, nor does it address cross-border FGM.

No measures aimed at preventing or eradicating FGM have been adopted.

FAMILY PLANNING

The law does not guarantee access to SRH services in case practitioners raise conscientious objections.

COMPREHENSIVE SEXUALITY EDUCATION

The law does not mandate the provision of CSE in schools. Guidelines for the delivery of CSE in schools have not been adopted.

RIGHT TO EDUCATION

The law does not explicitly guarantee the right of pregnant or parenting students to attend school. Policies to allow pregnant or parenting students to attend school have not been adopted.
