

GUINEA

Women, Business and the Law (WBL), in collaboration with the Global Financing Facility (GFF), has collected data on laws affecting women's and girls' access to sexual and reproductive health (SRH), as well as frameworks supporting their implementation. Data were collected through desk research and a questionnaire administered to country experts. The analysis is organized around five indicators. For each indicator, the legal framework is assessed based on domestic laws and regulations. The supportive framework is assessed based on instruments—such as national policies, strategies, and guidelines—that are currently in effect and support the implementation of these laws.

INDICATOR		WHAT DOES IT MEASURE?
		Legal Frameworks	Supportive Frameworks
	SRH rights	Right to SRH; guaranteed access to free SRH services without discrimination	Existence and contents of an operational SRH policy or strategy
	Violence against women and girls (VAWG)	Prohibition of female genital mutilations (FGM)	Adoption of measures to eradicate FGM
	Family planning	Absence of legal restrictions on SRH services, such as the need for consent from a husband, male guardian, parent or third party	Family planning guidelines or protocols
	Comprehensive sexuality education (CSE)	Legal mandates for CSE in schools	Guidelines for delivery of CSE in schools
	Right to education	Girls' legal right to attend school during pregnancy and after childbirth	Policies to keep girls in school and allow pregnant and parenting students to attend school

LEGAL AND SUPPORTIVE FRAMEWORKS

Guinea has a comprehensive and defined framework for:

SRH RIGHTS

The legal right to SRH is guaranteed under Loi N° 010/2000/AN de juillet 2000 adoptant et promulguant la loi portant santé de la reproduction en République de Guinée, which also prohibits discrimination in access to SRH services based on sex or gender, age, or marital status.

The Plan National de Développement Sanitaire 2015–2024 sought to expand access to modern contraception by providing a range of contraceptive methods, integrating family planning into public and private health facilities, and promoting awareness of family planning.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND GIRLS

FGM is a criminal offense in Guinea, triggering monetary and detention penalties of up to two years of imprisonment. The law establishes criminal liability for both the individual performing the FGM procedure and any parent or legal guardian who allows FGM to be performed on a minor under their custody.

FAMILY PLANNING

No explicit legal provisions require women to obtain consent from their husband or male guardian, or adolescents to obtain parental or a legal guardian's consent to access SRH services. Similarly, the law does not require any third-party consent that may restrict access to SRH.

The Normes de Services de Santé Adapté aux Adolescents et Jeunes set out the standards aimed at enhancing the quality of health services specifically designed to meet the needs of adolescents and young people.

POLICY OPPORTUNITIES

The data reveal gaps in Guinea's legal and supportive frameworks across the five indicators assessed. Strengthening these frameworks can help accelerate the country's progress toward gender equality and to improve health outcomes for women, children, and adolescents.

Guinea may wish to consider translating the following gaps into policy opportunities:

SRH RIGHTS

The law does not guarantee access to SRH services free of cost.

VIOLENCE AGAINST WOMEN AND GIRLS

While FGM is prohibited, the law does not address cross-border FGM. Additionally, no measures aimed at preventing or eradicating FGM have been adopted.

FAMILY PLANNING

The law does not guarantee access to SRH services in case practitioners raise conscientious objections.

COMPREHENSIVE SEXUALITY EDUCATION

The law does not mandate the provision of CSE in schools.

Guidelines for the delivery of CSE in schools and awareness-raising and sensitization campaigns on SRH rights have not been adopted.

RIGHT TO EDUCATION

The law does not explicitly provide for the right of pregnant or parenting students to attend school.

Policies to keep girls in school or to allow pregnant or parenting students to attend school have not been adopted.
